RDU/Component Budget Summary

RDU/Component: Alaska Seafood Marketing Institute

(There is only one component in this RDU. To reduce duplicate information, we did not print a separate RDU section.)

Contribution to Department's Mission

Increase the economic value of Alaska seafood resources.

Core Services

- U.S. and International Retail Alaska Seafood Promotion.
- Public Relations and Communications.
- Seafood Quality technical support.
- U.S. and International Foodservice Alaska Seafood Promotion.

Results at a Glance

(Additional performance information is available on the web at http://omb.alaska.gov/results.)

END RESULT A: Increased economic value of Alaska seafood resources.

- Ex-vessel value of key commercial species in Alaska's commercial harvest increased 14.4% from 2007-2008, exceeding the target of a 0.5% increase.
- First wholesale value of selected Alaska salmon products increased 18.09% from 2007 to 2008, exceeding the target of a 0.5% increase.
- The value of Alaska seafood exports to Alaska Seafood Marketing Institute program destination countries decreased by 0.82% from 2007 to 2008, not meeting the target of a 0.5% increase.
- Alaska Seafood held second place among food brands on U.S. menus in 2009, but has not yet met the target of first place.
- The target of .5% was exceeded as cities, boroughs and municipalities in aggregate received 13% more in tax revenue in 2008 than in 2007 as their share of combined fisheries resource tax and fisheries business tax.

Status of Strategies to Achieve End Result

- FY10 U.S. advertising and public relations campaign funded at one third the level of FY08, necessitating shift of resources from advertising to public relations and resulting in loss of certainty of key messages being delivered timely to millions of Americans.
- There was an 8.47% decrease, to $4.7 million, in the Market Access program allocation to the Alaska Seafood Marketing Institute from FY09 to FY10, not meeting the target of $5.5 million.

Major Activities to Advance Strategies

- Conduct consumer promotional campaigns to strengthen demand for wild and natural Alaska Seafood, stimulate sales and increase the economic
- Execute advertising and public relations campaigns to boost usage of all key commercial species of Alaska Seafood.
- Customized promos with retail stores, supermarket chains, club stores to build strong brand equity, differentiating Alaska Seafood from competition.
- Customized promos with top foodservice operators/restaurant chains to build strong brand equity, differentiating Alaska Seafood from competition.
- Build a customer base in segments that offer attractive sales opportunities (e.g., colleges and universities, catering, non-commercial foodservice).

- Partner with broadline foodservice distributors that supply 1 million U.S. restaurants/ foodservice institutes- maximize Alaska Seafood penetration.
- Conduct quality assurance education from harvest to plate; Alaska Seafood training for seafood buyers and chefs around the world.
- Provide technical support for seafood industry.
- Aid all of the Alaska Seafood industry, including large and small processors, regional marketers and harvesters with resources and information.
- Communicate with Alaska seafood suppliers, policy makers and the seafood industry about ASMI's longrange marketing plans.

Key Component Challenges

Economic Conditions

The global economic downturn is the biggest challenge for the Alaska seafood industry at this time. Tight credit markets have a negative impact on Alaska seafood customers and on suppliers holding inventory. The seafood industry is suffering from reduced seafood sales at restaurants and retail grocery stores in the U.S. and overseas as consumers tighten their belts, The falling U.S. dollar value makes Alaska seafood products more competitively priced in foreign markets, but reduces the buying power of promotional dollars expended overseas.

Market Conditions

Among food proteins, seafood is suffering the greatest negative impact from the economic meltdown, and Alaska's highest value species are hardest hit. Competing proteins -- farmed fish, beef, pork, chicken and dairy products -- are often lower priced, and often have well-financed promotional campaigns. Alaska will need to ramp up promotional efforts to win back customers and prevent brand erosion. Fish farming, notably whitefish varieties that will compete head to head with Alaska products, continues to ramp up. International currency fluctuations, tariffs and trade barriers dictate what markets will receive various Alaska seafood products, and new food safety regulations are expected to impact the international flow of seafood products.

Other challenges affecting the market for Alaska's seafood products include: price resistance following periods of strengthening prices, confusion about what connotes "sustainable seafood" and a profusion of eco-labels, messages in the media about actual and possible contaminants in seafood, and softening of markets for particular species and products (e.g. Pacific cod, certain kinds of roe).

Reduction in level of federal funds for international promotions

The federal U.S.D.A. Market Access program allocation to ASMI for FY10 was reduced to $4.7 ($5.5 was requested for FY10 and $5.1 million was received in FY09). FY11 funding levels are uncertain and subject to the political actions of the federal administration and Congress.

Significant Changes in Results to be Delivered in FY2011

No changes in results delivered.

Major Component Accomplishments in 2009

- Increased the value of fresh, frozen, and shelf stable (canned and pouched) Alaska Seafood in the U.S. and key international markets.
- Conducted innovative promotional activities with retail grocers, foodservice distributors, restaurant chains, foodservice operators, universities, and culinary schools to strengthen Alaska brand seafood.
- Improved alignment with industry trade spending.
- Created and placed new advertisements emphasizing sustainability of Alaska Seafood in publications read by home cooks, chefs, restaurant owners and retail grocers.
- Gained newspaper, magazine, radio, TV and internet exposure for Alaska Seafood in U.S. and key overseas markets
- Media tours/trade missions to Alaska from U.S. and Germany; and trade shows in Asia, Europe and U.S.

The ex-vessel value of key commercial Alaska seafood species rose to $1,862,000,000 in 2008, up from $1,627,000,000 in 2007, an increase of 14.4% providing economic benefits to the seafood industry and state and local economies.

First wholesale value of Alaska salmon increased to $1,069,400 in 2008, up from $905,600 in 2007, an increase of 8.45%. The continuing upward trend established over the last five years benefits Alaska's economy through job creation, increased commerce, and increased revenue to state and local governments.

Value of Alaska Seafood exports to Alaska Seafood Marketing Institute (ASMI) program destination countries topped $1,672,000. Total Alaska seafood exports to all countries were valued at $2,352,172. The value of Alaska seafood exports to ASMI program destination countries grew 10% from 2004 to 2008, while the value of Alaska seafood exports to other countries grew 3% during that period. The 2008 value of a "ton unit" of Alaska seafood reached a 10 year high of $3,303 (average from 2000 forward is $2,909). .ASMI's international program is active in Japan, China and the European Union, as well as exploring emerging markets in eastern Europe and Russia. Preliminary results indicate that in 2009

FY2011 Governor Released December 14th

ASMI's Alaska Pavilion exhibit at the European Seafood Exposition – one of many trade show activities during the year - generated on site sales by participating Alaska seafood companies amounting to $36,000,000, and projected sales for the ensuing twelve months are expected to reach $394,000,000.

ASMI's access to the corporate offices of grocery retailers, restaurant operators and foodservice distributors around the world has successfully increased the value of its corporate partnerships, and achieved increased use and awareness of the Alaska Seafood brand and companion brands. ASMI also cultivates media contacts to increase positive exposure for Alaska and Alaska Seafood. The relationships built by ASMI have built brand equity for Alaska Seafood. For example, the Alaska Seafood brand has become one of the top three food brands on the menus of the top 500 U.S. restaurant chains. ASMI educates chefs, restaurant operators, grocery retailers, foodservice distributors and seafood buyers about Alaska Seafood, and builds brand equity that can be leveraged by all Alaska Seafood suppliers. ASMI activities spread key messages about the Alaska Seafood brand: when it comes to seafood, "Alaska" signifies wild, natural, unparalleled flavor, superior quality, sustainability, versatility, ease of preparation, and healthfulness.

Due to the global economic downturn, there is a need to shore up the Alaska Seafood brand to ensure that the customer has good reason to buy our product. Reduced restaurant sales, shopping down, tight credit markets, and price need to be countered with sustainability, food origin, health benefits, food safety, carbon footprint and food miles, and buy local. In addition, opportunity exists to capture more of the domestic market due to reduced Chilean imports as a result
